Built by Hill Residential in 2016, Knightly Avenue forms part of the prestigious Ninewells development, which is situated on the south side of the city. Built to an extremely high specification, number 65 is beautifully presented and combines the best of contemporary living with a beautiful natural environment.

The development adjoins open countryside and benefits from outstanding views towards the Gog Magog Downs. Carefully designed to embrace and protect its natural environment, the development includes wide avenues, footpaths, green spaces, wet and dry attenuation ponds and varied planting. Addenbrooke's Hospital/Biomedical Campus, is within a quarter of a mile of the property and easily accessible on foot or by bicycle.

The property is also well placed for access to the Babraham Institute and Granta Park, about 4 and 6 miles respectively. Cambridge offers extensive cultural and shopping facilities together with an outstanding choice of independent schools and sixth form colleges, many of which are within close proximity. Golf enthusiasts are particularly well served with the highly acclaimed Gog Magog Golf Club (providing two 18 hole courses) within a third of a mile.
